

@CPGTech Twitter Tech Support

Memphis, TN – The COMP Performance Group™ expands technical support to Twitter.com with @CPGTech.

The COMP Performance Group™ has always put an emphasis on maintaining a real-time link between qualified technicians and consumers of all levels of automotive knowledge. With a tech center staffed with some of the most well-informed people in the business, CPG techs have already moved help online through email, forums and Live Chat. Now there is one more way to contact tech support for your favorite aftermarket brands: Twitter. The @CPGTech profile was created to offer Twitter users the same exceptional support as traditional methods. Technicians from COMP Cams®, FAST™, RHS®, TCI®, ZEX™, Inglese™ and the other COMP Performance Group™ companies monitor the account and respond to questions as soon as they come in. Now, anyone can ask questions of these companies on Twitter anywhere there is internet access and can expect a fast, accurate answer from @CPGTech. This new Twitter account is just the latest addition to the extensive list of COMP Performance Group™ technical support options available.
